OUR HISTORY

Sunshine School & Development Center has been serving NWA for over 60 years.

The inaugural class was held in the basement of the First United Methodist Church in Rogers and consisted of two children, one with Down Syndrome and the other with a severe brain injury resulting in developmental delays. In 1958 the public education system didn't have a place for children with special needs. The families of these two children – the Clardys and the Brileys – needed a place for their own children to learn, so they started Sunshine School. Mrs. Clardy and Mrs. Briley were the teachers. By the end of the first month, six more children had joined.

In 1961, through the generosity of friends and neighbors, a new building was built for Sunshine School in Vaughn, AR. For 30 years young people went through the doors in Vaughn and graduated with skills that would serve them throughout life.

After multiple moves to serve the growing class sizes and needs of the community, a new idea began to take shape. In 1991 the public school system began integrating children with developmental delays into the classrooms. In response, the Sunshine School started to focus on programs which included Early Intervention, Community Support and a Preschool Center. These programs catered to individuals in the Northwest Arkansas community of ALL ages with developmental delays. The school continued to grow exponentially and soon outgrew its facilities. Once again, through the generosity and care of the community, another facility was funded. In January 2007 the agency moved to the current 40,000 square foot facility where over 500 people a year are helped. To better reflect the diversity of the ages and the abilities of the clients served now, the name of the agency was changed to the Sunshine School & Development Center in 2013.

BODY TEXT

Raleway

Body text is Raleway, size 10-14. It should be comfortably readable for long passages. Serifed fonts are widely used for body text because they are considered easier to read than sans-serif fonts in print. Sans-serif fonts are considered to be more legible on low-resolution computer screens.

^{*} All agency print and marketing materials require approval by the Communications Coordinator.

PHOTOGRAPHY

Photography is a vital and engaging way of telling stories. All images should reflect inclusion, development, and enrichment. All images should display dignity and represent real-life families and individuals. We should seek to use multiple images to ensure a mix of ages, cultures, ethnic backgrounds, and unique needs.

Key demographics that should be depicted include in-center students, Community Support clients, staff, and families.

When utilizing images, it is required that photo release forms be completed by those being displayed.

Do not use any photos not approved by Sunshine School and families.
